

Financial Analyst (Two Positions)

Conduct financial data research and analysis to assist testifying experts with the preparation of the financial reports; Develop and apply complex financial models to provide assessment on the impact of proposed policies and support business decisions; Research and identify investment transactions from various kinds of monthly financial statements or investment reports; Conduct in-depth financial research for initial public offering, and 10b, 11, 12 class action cases, summarize documents, and present research findings in a clear and consistent manners; Apply financial theory to calculate the out-of-pocket profit/loss, profit/loss by various securities, investment turnover ratio, trading cost and brokerage commissions; Apply analytical techniques in providing clients with advise on various asset allocations in equity, bond and money market; Support experts as they serve as expert witnesses before courts and arbitration panels during various securities litigation and disputes.

Requirements:

- Master's Degree in Finance.
- Minimum 6 months working experience in finance related field.
- Demonstrated skills/knowledge in preparing financial reports and presentation, wealth management and financial planning, and conducting industry research and writing research paper.

Contact:

Send resumes to Securities Litigation and Consulting Group, Inc. at 3998 Fair Ridge Drive, Suite 250, Fairfax, VA 22033 or email to slcgjobs@slcg.com